Shane’s practice is focused on the areas of estate planning, trust and estate administration, and business and tax planning for individuals and professionals. He also concentrates in elder law, assisting individuals with long-term care planning.

Prior to joining Scolaro, Fetter, Grizanti, McGough & King, P.C., Shane worked in the Boston, MA area as a financial planner for five years and as an associate for two law firms with practices focused on estate planning, trust and estate administration, and long-term care planning.

He is a CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™ professional and a member of Phi Delta Phi.
Ed Staehr is a senior extension associate in the Charles H. Dyson School of Applied Economics and Management at Cornell University. He is executive director of NY FarmNet/NY FarmLink, a program that provides free, on-farm consulting to farmers on business and interpersonal issues throughout New York State. Prior to joining the School, Ed was agricultural team leader for Cornell Cooperative Extension of Onondaga County and helped pilot New York State’s Agricultural Environmental Management program in the Skaneateles Lake Watershed.

He is a contributor to the Charles H. Dyson School Agribusiness Economic Outlook Conference grains outlook. Ed’s outreach activities focus on improving farm profitability and increasing the number of farm business transfers from one generation to the next.

Tim Veazey grew up on a dairy farm in western New York. He spent the first 10 years of his career as an agricultural lender, and after that, has been a financial planner focused on agribusiness clients for over 20 years. This experience has fueled his passion for helping owners of large farms develop and implement business succession, estate transfer and personal financial plans. Through a comprehensive financial planning process, working closely with the clients’ team of other advisors, he is able to help his clients grow, preserve, protect, use and distribute their personal and business wealth more effectively. Tim’s strength is the ability to see the “big picture” of the client’s situation and issues while being able to address the necessary details to ensure that their goals can be met. The long term relationships between Tim and his clients have proven to be valuable as the financial plans continue to be reviewed and adapted as time and circumstances warrant.

In addition to his work with agribusiness owners, Tim serves on the Board of NY FarmNet, is a lead usher at his church, is an active member of the NY Agricultural Society, and helps with several 4H, Farm Bureau and Cooperative extension programs and events. He earned a BS in General Agriculture from Cornell University, earned CFP®, CLU and ChFC certification or designation, holds Series 7 and 65 securities registrations, and is insurance licensed in several states.

Steven A. Walker is a shareholder (partner) of Scolaro, Fetter, Grizanti, McGough & King, P.C. His statewide practice focuses on business, estate, tax, succession and transactional planning for closely-held and family-owned enterprises, particularly those involved in agriculture.

Steve is involved in forming and advising closely-held businesses in many areas including limited liability company formation, contract negotiation, dispute resolution, employee, shareholder/principal agreements, entity structuring, women-owned business enterprises (WBE), and business succession planning. Steve also advises clients on estate, trust and long-term care planning, state and federal tax issues, and real estate transfers and leases. Steve travels throughout New York State to meet with his clients at their home or place of business.

Steve is admitted to practice in the States of New York and New Jersey, and is a member of the New York State and the Onondaga County Bar Associations.
