I. INTRODUCTION: HOW TO USE THE GUIDE

The principal purpose of this guide is to assist researchers in locating information about the food industry. Certain basic references to general business information are also included. The food industry is often defined broadly to encompass operations from farm to table. In this guide, however, the focus is somewhat narrower: emphasis is given primarily to food industry activity at manufacturer-distributor-consumer levels.

The list of sources here is selective. It is designed as a guide to the most useful reference tools for locating information about the food industry. In many cases, the references here will lead to additional, more specific sources as dictated by the researcher's given topic. When assistance is required, reference librarians should be consulted.

Each citation in this guide includes a Cornell library location and call number. Below the title of each entry is the primary library location and the call number for the publication at that library. The primary location was chosen based on the most recent or complete holdings for the specific publication. Wherever possible, Mann Library is the primary location. Otherwise, the Management, or another library, is the primary location.

When a publication is available at libraries other than the primary location, abbreviations of these libraries are included in the entry, preceded by "Also at." The abbreviations, and building locations, for the libraries in this guide are as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Library</th>
<th>Abbreviations</th>

When seeking a publication at a location other than the primary location, keep in mind that the call number at that library might be different, and that the holdings there might not be as complete or as recent. Consult the online catalog to confirm call numbers and holdings in these situations.

For primary locations, citations may include references to exactly where in the library the particular item might be found. For all libraries, "Ref." refers to the reference section. Mann library also has an Indexes Room ("Indexes") as well as computer work stations located on the "Second Floor".

At the Management Library, there is a Financial Services/Directories Section ("Financial Serv.").), an Index Table ("Index"), a Marketing Services Section ("Marketing Serv.").), and Computer Work Stations ("Computer Work.").

Excluding periodicals, when no reference is made to a location within the library, this is shelved in the main stacks. As for periodicals, Mann keeps the last 5 years of certain titles in their Periodical Room and shelves the remainder in the stacks. The Management Library keeps certain popular titles behind the circulation desk. The remainder could be found in their periodicals section (recent issues) or stacks (older bound volumes). Pluses in a call number indicate an oversize volume. Libraries differ as to how they shelve their oversize books, so check with a librarian if you have trouble locating one.

Cornell’s libraries differ on circulation policies, check with each library for such information. Copiers are available at all libraries.
II. INDEXES AND OTHER GUIDES TO INFORMATION SOURCES

Often the latest and best information about general business and the food industry can be found in journals and newspapers. The following indexes and abstracts are the main sources for locating this information. The arrangement is usually alphabetical by subject and, in some cases, by author. Check the explanatory pages in the front of the volumes for further information about contents, access, and also, for a listing of journals indexed.

B) INFORMATION SOURCES

BRIDGE
♦ Management

Bridge is an online system with comprehensive coverage of the securities industry. Information on stocks, options and futures are stored in daily, weekly, and monthly databases. This complex, command driven system, is not available during trading hours (9 a.m. to 5 p.m.)

CD/Corporative U.S. Public Companies
♦ Management

Contains numerical data and textual information on over 12,000 U.S. companies and 50 industries. Financial statements, excerpts from annual and 10K reports, investment analysts’ reports, 11 years of stock price data and article abstracts are included.

Compustat PC Plus.
♦ Management

This annually updated database contains financial information for over 7,000 publicly traded U.S. Companies. Twenty years of annual data, ten years of quarterly data and five years of daily stock price data are reported per company. Also included is business segment information, market data and ratios. Data may be downloaded and later manipulated in Lotus spreadsheets. A users guide is available.

Dialogue Business Connection
♦ Mann Second Floor
♦ Also at Mgt.

Provides data on over 1 million European, UK and Canadian companies, as well as detailed information on 10 million public and private U.S. firms.

Twenty-five databases are available through an easy-to-use interface that allows you to enter a company name, ticker symbol, or key word to retrieve information.

Can also be used to review flight fares and schedules and hotel information, or to browse the latest headlines.
Dow Jones News/Retrieval

Management
